Make Yourself Saviors of Men

Key Scripture: "And saviors shall come up on mount Zion to judge the mount of Esau; and the kingdom shall be the Lord's." — Obadiah 1:21

Introduction:

This sermon, delivered by Rev. Kwame Owusu-Daaku and inspired by Bishop Dag Heward-Mills' teachings, emphasizes the calling of every believer to become a 'savior of men' through active evangelism and soul-winning.

Main Themes:

1. The Call to Evangelism

Every Christian is called to reach out and lead others to Christ. Being a savior of men is a divine assignment for all believers.

2. Understanding the Great Commission

Jesus commanded us to go into all the world and preach the gospel. This is the core mission of the church.

3. The Role of the Holy Spirit

Believers need the empowerment of the Holy Spirit to effectively witness and win souls.

4. Personal Responsibility

Soul-winning is not just for pastors or evangelists. Each believer must take ownership of spreading the gospel.

5. Urgency of the Mission

There is no time to waste—many are dying without knowing Christ. We must act swiftly.

6. Love as Motivation

It is love for God and compassion for souls that should drive us to evangelize.

7. Obedience to Christ's Command

Evangelism is not optional; it is a direct instruction from Jesus to His followers.

Conclusion:

God is calling every believer to rise up as a savior of men. By embracing evangelism, walking in love, and relying on the Holy Spirit, we fulfill Christ's command and participate in expanding God's Kingdom.
